Project seven

Sports

Do you drool when you watch Messi dribble a soccer ball past three defenders, or do you hold your breath as you observe Connor McDavid skating full speed from one end of the ice to the other, or maybe when Lebron James steals the ball and does a slam dunk...? Every sports fan has a favorite sport. Which one is yours? Whether you like swimming, track, curling or cycling, this project is for you!

TASK 1: Watch a sporting event in English. You can do this on television at home if you like. In the rubric below, indicate what you noticed about the techniques used by the announcers? Also, identify a list of ten specialized vocabulary words or expressions that you heard or read; provide definitions for these terms (in English). Complete the graphic organizer below using note form.

Special techniques
Other observations about reporting on this sport

Then, if possible, watch (or read) a summary of the same sporting event. Complete your list of expressions and vocabulary.

Discuss your observations with your partner or your teacher.

For match summaries of the various sports, you may consult the following list:
